30th anniversary edition of the bestseller that shows believers how to share the good news using Jesus' own methods

This book details the most contemporary concerns related to urban development governance and planning as well as the challenges to urban administration. It analyses the policies and programmes adopted by both high income and lower middle income countries to achieve sustainable urbanization and their application and treatment to help students get a holistic practical perspective of the issues at hand. This volume elucidates urban development theories and approaches coupled with urban planning, local government finance, urban management and urban governance. It also discusses urban issues and challenges such as education, health, waste management, land use planning, housing and transport. Critical concerns related to urban water bodies, open spaces, urban heritage and smart cities and urban future are similarly addressed. This book will be useful to students, researchers and teachers of urban planning and architecture, urban sociology, economics, geography, environmental science and public administration. It shall also be useful to NGOs, parastatal bodies and trainers of urban planning and development planners, policymakers, functionaries and elected representatives of urban local bodies. It may also be used as a capacity building instrument.

This book, the first of its kind, introduces various aspects of urban planning in India and contributes towards debates on changes required in the current practice. Urban planning in India means many things to city residents and is used generically to include all interventions in the cities such as public policy, design, institutional design, spatial and territorial plans, infrastructure plans, public administration, community participation and their implementation through programmes, schemes and projects. While urban planning is expected to meet the global development agendas of equitable and just urbanisation, climate change and sustainable development goals (SDGs), in practice it has largely remained confined to statutory spatial planning represented by master plan or comprehensive plan. This volume delves into this world of urban planning as critical insiders to see how it works in India, analysing the city level spatial plans, the master or development plans of select cities to assess whether these are capable of addressing the global agendas and coordinate with all other plans prepared for the city. It examines whether it would work in reference to the contemporary issues, SDGs and global agendas and discusses strategies on how to make it work better. It also deals with each of the above stated criticisms of the practice and examines the debates, data, approaches, agendas, plans and the future of urban planning in india this book comes in at a time when the urban planners and policy makers have themselves begun to discuss a need to relook at urban planning practices and tools to meet the future requirements of urbanisation in india it will be a useful reference volume for the students scholars and practitioners alike and be of interest to researchers and students of urban planning architecture public administration civil engineering geography economics and sociology it will also be useful for policy makers and professionals working in the areas of town and country planning
